Convey the space of the Nymph, today

Like writing, drawing is one of the few languages able to make time visible throughout space; it can coil, expand and shrink itself, stop, change direction, move.

The study of the perception of space throughout time has created artistic masterpieces, but it has also left a mark in human cultures, giving them a tangible sign of the past. By reproducing a drawing, the participant will be introduced to the artistic space, weaving between ancient and modern, so to pick up on both the differences and the hidden similarities between artistic styles.

NOW CREATE THE IMAGE OF A CONTEMPORARY NYMPH, STARTING FROM THE PICTURE BELOW. HOW WOULD THE STATUE LOOK IF IT WAS MADE TODAY?

FREE YOUR CREATIVITY THEN CONFRONT THE ANCIENT PIECE WITH YOUR CONTEMPORARY DRAWING.
